

The IGSA Fair has reopened its doors

This edition has stood out for the number of conferences that have been held so far and that there has been a great acceptance.

This year 2022 has returned very strongly the V edition of the IGSA Fair, after two years stopped by the Covid-19 pandemic. The IGSA Institute has been the meeting place for professionals and prescribers with the main brands in the sector for two days, last April, at the Industrial Ginés facilities in Girona.

The main theme of the event has been digitization, health, and sustainability in the facilities. This edition has been very well received by the attending public and has been the opportunity for companies to approach them again, after the mandatory shutdown we have had, and they have been able to expose the latest developments for this year and present them to professionals.

This edition has highlighted the number of conferences that have been held so far and that there has been a great acceptance.

The IGSA Fair has also had an exhibition hall where 40 of the main brands in the sector have been present with a stand to chat with visitors and enter in more detail the demonstration of products designed to improve life in homes, companies, and shops.

To conclude each day of the fair, Industrial Ginés has provided attendees and exhibitors with a dinner served by the prestigious restaurant EL GINJOLER and a musical show with the BSO group to make the meeting more relaxed and out of the work environment.
